

OpenText™ Core

The easiest way to manage content in the cloud

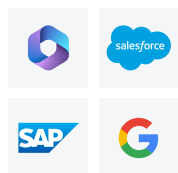

OpenText™ Core is a Software as a Service (SaaS) platform that integrates into critical business applications to help organizations maximize employee productivity, accelerate business processes, and enhance governance. Say goodbye to content chaos—get instant access to all your information from one easy-to-use interface.

Consolidate data silos

With cloud-based content management, employees spend less time searching through disconnected applications and databases to find the information they need and more time turning insights into meaningful business outcomes.

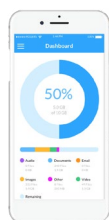

Ease access to applications and data

Core integrates with the applications employees use daily, such as SAP® S/4HANA Public and Private Cloud, Salesforce®, Microsoft 365®, and Google Workspace. Policy-based rights access is automatically assigned at the user, team, or external partner level, ensuring all users have access to the right information.

Automate repetitive tasks

OpenText solutions automate tedious and time-consuming manual tasks such as classifying information and updating client or employee records, freeing workers to focus on more value-added initiatives that fulfill and empower them.

Harness the speed and power of SaaS

By integrating secure cloud-based content management into crucial business process applications, organizations can accelerate hiring and onboarding, uncover critical business insights faster, and speed time to value.

Put integration to work

Core offers an integrated portfolio of information management solutions to support use cases across the enterprise, including:
