

OpenText™ AXS-One Cool

Unlock value from your critical business information

The AXS-One COOL solution set enables organizations to quickly and easily share business information from multiple sources, merge the information, and present that information in a cohesive and relevant way.

Information is essential for every company looking to make informed business decisions. Whether you need to answer a customer's questions or a detailed report on past transactions, your company needs to be able to sort through enormous volumes of "enterprise-size" storage, and locate the most relevant set of data for your request.

Full Advantage of XML

Through AXS-One Cool, your company can share data and communicate with other applications. By taking information from any system and converting it to XML, you can create information that can be customized and access-controlled giving you the answers you need – fast.

Multiple Data Sources

AXS-One Cool can archive data from most Operating Systems and applications. Format templates are supplied out of the box to handle Microsoft® Windows®, Mainframe, UNIX®, Linux®, and Desktop applications, in EBCDIC, PDF, AFP, HTML, XML and other formats.

APIs

A rich API set enables end users and partners to create customized solutions for their particular needs.

Security

Supports integration with all major security and authentication methods, including: LDAP, Active Directory, and Single Sign On. Access may also be controlled on a group or user basis down to individual pages.

PRODUCT BENEFITS

- Merge reports from any system, irrespective of origin
- Connect to all available information through a single point of access
- Guide users to the specific information that is relevant to their request or situation
- Publish business documents on the web—in a highly secure, scalable format
- Facilitate educated, two-way communication among employees, customers and vendors

www.opentext.com/contact