WHAT'S IMPORTANT TO YOU?

HOW OPENTEXT MAKES IT HAPPEN

QUALITY

OpenText believes that quality management is not a post-project activity, but rather a process that should occur before and throughout the project. When customers provide content, OpenText confirms its understanding of the scope of work with the customer, in order to assign the most qualified resources for the project. Resources have, on average, more than 15 years of professional translation experience.

DELIVERING ON DEADLINES

Before beginning a project, OpenText confirms all project parameters in order to deliver within the required turnarounds. This allows open and transparent dialogue should any activity be affected by an unforeseen delay, and to come to a decision together in order to meet the required deadlines.

EASE OF SERVICE

OpenText responds promptly to any questions customers may have and provides visibility into the project. For example, for large-scale translation projects, a project plan is prepared listing the priorities of each document, when each is received, and when the translation is scheduled to be delivered. This allows customers to easily keep track of the progress, knowing it is in good hands.

WHAT'S IMPORTANT TO YOU?	HOW OPENTEXT MAKES IT HAPPEN
COST	Flexibility to provide a service that corresponds to customer budget expectations.
TURNKEY SOLUTION	For requirements beyond standard text translation, OpenText will find a solution that corresponds to customer needs. For example, should a marketing team need an Adobe® InDesign® brochure in different languages, it simply provides its InDesign files and OpenText will take it from there, providing the final files localized into the required target languages and ready for print.

OpenText offers many languages, including:

- English
- French
- Spanish
- Portuguese
- German
- Italian
- Dutch
- Chinese
- Japanese
- Arabic
